

MEMBERSHIP RATES 2025

Hollandbio is a privately-funded association. Any company¹ active in the broad field of biotechnology can become a member of hollandbio. Companies that apply biotechnology or provide support services. To determine the membership rate, a distinction is made between biotechnology members and associate members.²

Biotechnology members

Biotechnology members are companies that perform biotechnological activities. These activities entail the use of organisms such as plants, animals, fungi and bacteria -or parts of these organisms- for the development of new products or technologies in health, nutrition, agriculture, industry or the environment.

The membership fee is based on the turnover realized by the Dutch branch(es) in 2023. If the turnover is less than €25 million, the membership fee will be based on the number of employees in the Netherlands on January 1, 2025.

Discount startup

A biotechnology member that is less than 5 years old (as of January 1), has ≤6 employees, has not yet generated any revenue and invests in R&D is eligible for a startup discount of 70% on the B1 rate.

Associate members

Associate members are companies¹ that are indirectly involved in biotechnology, because they offer services to biotech companies. Consultancy companies and law firms are examples of associated members. The membership rates of these organizations are based on the number of employees at January 1, 2025.

A hollandbio membership year runs from January 1st to December 31st. However, it is possible to become a member throughout the year. All memberships are automatically extended by another full membership year, unless a timely and written cancellation is received. A cancellation period of three months applies, i.e. no later than October 1st each year.
